FUND UPDATE

During March 2018, ALF's Net Asset Value per share decreased by 0.5%. The primary drivers of the negative return were the Vision holdings which decreased due to BRL depreciation versus the USD (1.6% in the month). The Company's net cash position at the end of March was $7.6mm, a decrease from the previous month of approximately $500k due to new investments made in Warana SP Offshore Fund SPC – 2018 Segregated Portfolio, as discussed below.

The Investment Manager travelled to Ukraine in early March to meet with the management team of its real estate holdings there. As a reminder, ALF is the majority shareholder of Ubique, a BVI company which in turn has investments in Ukrainian real estate development projects in both Kiev and Nikolaev. Warana has been pursuing a restructuring of this vehicle for the last nine months and the meetings in March were to finalize this transaction and agree a strategic plan, with the manager and the other significant shareholder, for the next 12-24 months. The re-structuring involves liquidating and eliminating the BVI structure and moving ALF's exposure to the project directly via the existing Cyprus based company. The projected cost savings of this and other structural changes that have been implemented over the past 12 months, will be in the region of $200,000 a year for Ubique shareholders. (Continued on Next Page)

ALF is also exchanging some un-developed land in the outskirts of Kiev for more shares in the Nikolaev project, and upon completion ALF's Ukrainian exposure will only be to the Nikolaev residential development – Riviera City. The project has been self-funding for the last 18 months and although the sales speed of the apartments has been slow, they are achieving reasonable prices. Another important aspect of the restructuring is a renewal and slight increase of the existing credit line for the project which may allow a slightly faster build out pace. The project is split into three "loops", the first being 100% complete and 90% sold, the second being 40% complete and 25% sold and the third currently raw land. One of the main strategic discussions revolves around the third loop and whether to look to divest/sell it once the second loop is complete (rather than build-out) as its value may have benefited from the other completed loops and it may allow us to exit the project earlier.

The Board of The Company and the Investment Manager spent most of Q1 working with its advisers to establish a new share class in ALF, and raise additional capital into that class to be deployed into the secondaries market via the 2018 Warana Offshore fund. Administrative delays with the UK regulator meant that ALF was not able to launch the new share class in time to coincide with the Warana 2018 fund launch. However, in order to have some participation in the vehicle ALF committed $1.23mm, of which $500k has already been paid-in. As at 30 May 2018, Warana 2018 had deployed approximately 17% of its capital commitment in over 25 different investment funds. The remainder of the Company's commitment will be drawn down over the next 18 months, as new investments are sourced.

Post March 2018 month-end, the Company received a cash distribution of approximately $1mm related to its investment in the GLG Emerging Markets Growth Fund. The Company retains a small audit holdback related to the position.

ALF VALUATION METHODOLOGY

ALF is invested in approximately 28 illiquid third party funds. The quality of assets and information provided by these funds varies. While many funds provide regular net asset value estimates of their portfolio, it is Warana's experience that these valuations can be optimistic and it is generally expected that these type of funds trade at a discount to these valuations in the secondary market (where observable). Some of the funds in the investment portfolio are also delinquent in providing their valuation estimates and/or have not had their accounts audited in a regular timeframe. As such, Warana believes it is appropriate to review the valuations provided by the underlying funds and apply provisions where appropriate. Unfortunately, the secondary market for fund interests is not deep, is characterized by many small transactions and pricing information is not particularly transparent. Price points can also be skewed adversely through the activity of one off highly motivated sellers. As such, Warana can not readily apply a 'mark to secondary bid' valuation approach due to a lack of quality independent third party information. (Continued on Next Page)

Warana has developed a provisioning process to evaluate the portfolio as objectively as possible by taking into account the quality of the information received from the underlying funds, their valuation processes, geographical locations and risks associated with the assets. Where possible, this analysis is then checked against observable secondary market activity. Provisions are applied based on the following criteria:

1. Where a manager, liquidator or other authorized party has advised that they expect a recovery materially less than the stated net asset value, the conservative end of this range is applied as a provision to the fund.

Where no third-party guidance is received, Warana applies provisions of 10% – 50% across each of the following criteria cumulatively:

2. If the net asset value is delinquent and/or not provided within the time frame previously advised to investors, a provision is applied.
3. If a third-party liquidator (or similar) has been appointed, an incremental discount is applied and if this party has not made progress on the fund in a reasonable time frame, this discount may be increased.
4. Warana seeks to receive bottom up information on the remaining assets in each of the funds. Because these funds are run by third parties, it is not always simple to get the full amount of information desired. An incremental discount is applied if the additional asset level information desired has not been received.
5. If fund audited financial statements are late or qualified, a discount is applied, which increases if an audit has not been completed for several years.
6. It is expected that funds have third party administrators/valuation agents. Should Warana not be able to determine whether such a group is still involved, an incremental discount is applied.
7. An additional discount is applied relating to the perceived incremental geographic, political or currency related risk of the asset or manager.
8. It is common for legacy illiquid funds to be involved in some type of litigation or have issues with key regulators. An incremental discount is applied depending on the severity of the litigation or investigation.
9. Should the fund or assets still have significant leverage an incremental discount is applied.

Warana then gathers the cumulative discounts applied in steps 1 through 9 and seeks to compare the proposed provision against what is observable in the secondary market. The following incremental test is applied.

10. If Warana is aware of a reliable third party, completed secondary market price that is:
 - a. Within the last 6 months; AND
 - b. At a discount to the manager provided net asset value of greater than 50% discount; AND
 - c. The price is more than 25% different to Warana's price calculated by applying 1 through 9, then an extra provision is applied to equate the provision levels to the secondary market value.
